

What to do if there are big snowflakes on the photovoltaic panels

Overview

The risks of not removing snow from solar panels include reduced energy production, potential damage to panels, and safety hazards. Use of foam-head snow brooms: In order to clean up the snow on the solar panels and avoid damage to the solar panels, many companies have issued a new type of foam-head snow brooms, whose heads are soft enough to clean up the snow at the same time will not. While the efficiency of solar panels drops in winter, proper snow removal techniques can help keep this loss to a minimum. Heavy snow buildup or the melting and refreezing process can stress the panel surface and mounting system.
